Autumn Budget 2025

Autumn Budget 2025

Chancellor of the Exchequer Rachel Reeves delivered her second Budget on 26 November, declaring “We are rebuilding our economy.” The fiscal update includes a series of new tax and spending measures – some of which had been announced or trailed prior to Budget day – described as “the right choices for a fairer, a stronger and a more secure Britain.” In total, the Budget will raise £26bn in taxes by 2029/30.

Economic forecasts

Ms Reeves began her statement by acknowledging the Office for Budget Responsibility's (OBR's) technical error in releasing its Economic and Fiscal Outlook earlier than planned. The document's accidental release effectively detailed the Budget's key contents before the Chancellor stood at the dispatch box to deliver her statement, a move Ms Reeves described as “deeply disappointing.”

The Chancellor then confirmed that the Budget will see an expansion of the buffer for meeting the government's fiscal targets, with the amount of headroom more than doubling from last year's figure of £9.9bn to £21.7bn. During her speech, Ms Reeves also noted that the Budget kept “every single one” of Labour's manifesto pledges on tax, with both her fiscal rules maintained without the need for “austerity” or “reckless borrowing.”

While the Chancellor noted that the OBR's economic growth forecast for this year had been increased from 1.0% to 1.5%, growth is expected to be 1.4% in 2026, and 1.5% across each of the following four years. In terms of consumer prices, the Chancellor noted that OBR calculations show “inflation is coming down faster” and, “as a direct result of this Budget,” will be “a full 0.4 percentage points lower next year.” The OBR predict CPI inflation of 3.5% this year and 2.5% in 2026.

Personal taxation, savings, wages and pensions

- The government is maintaining the Income Tax Personal Allowance at £12,570 and higher rate threshold at £50,270, for an additional three years to April 2031. National Insurance thresholds are also frozen until 2031
- The starting rate of Income Tax for savings will be retained at £5,000 for 2026/27 and will stay at this level until 5 April 2031. The tax rate on savings income will increase by two percentage points across all bands from April 2027 but current £1,000/£500 Personal Savings Allowances continue
- Separate rates of Income Tax will apply for property income. From April 2027, the property basic rate will be 22%, the property higher rate will be 42% and the property additional rate will be 47%
- Inheritance Tax thresholds (IHT) – The IHT nil-rate bands are already set at current levels until April 2030 and will stay fixed at these levels for a further year until April 2031. The forthcoming combined allowance for the 100% rate of agricultural property relief and business property relief will also be fixed at £1m for a further year until 5 April 2031. This will be legislated for in Finance Bill 2025/26 and take effect from 6 April 2030

- The ordinary and upper rates of tax on dividend income will increase by two percentage points from April 2026. There is no change to the dividend additional rate or the £500 annual (non-ISA) Dividend Allowance
- A High Value Council Tax Surcharge on owners of residential property in England worth £2m or more will start in 2028/29, with local authorities collecting revenue on behalf of central government. The charge will start at £2,500 a year and rise to £7,500 for properties valued above £5m
- From 6 April 2027 the annual Individual Savings Account (ISA) cash limit will be reduced from £20,000 to £12,000. Annual subscription limits will remain at £20,000 for ISAs until 2031, meaning you can invest the full amount in a Stocks & Shares ISA, or you can invest £12,000 in a Cash ISA, plus £8,000 in a Stocks & Shares ISA. Savers over the age of 65 will be able to save up to £20,000 in a cash ISA each year
- Annual subscription limits remain at £4,000 for Lifetime ISAs and £9,000 for Junior ISAs and Child Trust Funds until 5 April 2031
- To reform the Lifetime ISA, the government will publish a consultation in early 2026 on the implementation of a new, simpler ISA product to support first time buyers to buy a home. Once available, this new product will be offered in place of the Lifetime ISA
- The Help to Save scheme is to be made permanent
- The Venture Capital Trust (VCT) and Enterprise Investment Scheme (EIS) investment limits are increasing to £10m and £20m for Knowledge Intensive Companies (KICs) and the lifetime company investment limit is increasing to £24m and £40m for KICs. The VCT Income Tax relief will decrease to 20%. These changes will be legislated in Finance Bill 2025/26
- As recently announced, the government will increase the National Living Wage by 4.1% for individuals to £12.71 an hour. The National Minimum Wage for 18 to 20-year-olds will also increase by 8.5% to £10.85 per hour and for 16 to 17-year-olds and apprentices by 6.0% to £8.00 per hour
- Working age benefits will be uprated in line with the September CPI inflation of 3.8% from April 2026

Autumn Budget 2025

- As previously announced, the government has committed to maintain the State Pension Triple Lock for the duration of this Parliament, meaning that the basic and new State Pensions will increase by 4.8% in April 2026, in line with earnings growth. This means £241.30 a week for the full, new flat-rate State Pension (for those who reached State Pension age after April 2016) and £184.90 a week for the full, old basic State Pension (for those who reached State Pension age before April 2016)
- There are to be changes to salary sacrifice arrangements for pension contributions, with the amount that can be sacrificed without paying NICs capped at £2,000 per employee from 2029
- Members of the Pension Protection Fund (PPF) and Financial Assistance Scheme (FAS) will be protected against the impact of inflation by introducing CPI-linked increases, capped at 2.5% a year, on pre-1997 pension accruals where their original schemes provided this benefit, from January 2027.

Business measures

In her speech, Ms Reeves said, “We are sending a simple message to the world: If you build here, Britain will back you,” before making the following announcements:

- A new UK Listing Relief will provide a three-year exemption from Stamp Duty Reserve Tax for companies listing in the UK
- Visa reforms to help UK businesses access global talent
- The British Business Bank’s (BBB’s) new five-year plan will invest at least £5bn in growth-stage funds and scale-up companies. The BBB will launch VentureLink to help pension funds invest in venture capital
- Company eligibility limits for the Enterprise Management Incentives scheme will rise, giving more scale-ups the chance to join tax-advantaged share schemes
- Business rates in England to be updated from April 2026, including permanently lower multipliers for retail, hospitality and leisure
- The government has published a Call for Evidence (to close on 28 Feb 2026) seeking views on how the UK can provide better support to entrepreneurs
- More than £1.5bn invested through the Youth Guarantee and Growth and Skills Levy to strengthen the pipeline of skilled labour, including fully funded SME apprenticeships for under-25s.

Housing and infrastructure

Announcements included:

- £1.3bn from the National Housing Delivery Fund devolved to major combined authorities to unlock housing, regenerate sites and support local growth
- Planning reforms, including changes to the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), alongside skills reform and pensions reform expected to unlock £50bn for business and infrastructure
- New infrastructure projects including £891m for the Lower Thames Crossing.

Education and the NHS

Ms Reeves then turned her attention to education, noting, “this is a government on the side of our kids, who will back their potential.” Pledges include:

- Free breakfast clubs expanded, with 2,000 additional schools joining the scheme in 2026/27
- £18m over two years to renew up to 200 playgrounds across England
- £5m for libraries in secondary schools, building on the £10m committed for primary school libraries earlier this year.

Ms Reeves also announced 250 new Neighbourhood Health Centres delivered through public investment and a new public-private partnership model, as well as £300m in digital technology upgrades to improve NHS productivity and enhance patient outcomes.

Other key points

- Removal of the two-child limit in Universal Credit (UC) Child Element – from April 2026
